

BASE BALL FRIDAY

The baseball team of the Frankfort High School will come to this city next Friday, April 28th, for a game with the Mt. Sterling High School team. These teams broke even on the two games played last season and a close game is expected when they meet at the Fair Grounds Friday.

Lexington defeated Frankfort last week by a 16 to 5 score, but she considered herself lucky to get away with the long end of a 2 to 4 score in the game played with Mt. Sterling on Monday of this week when the local boys journeyed to that city. If "dope" counts for anything the home team should have a little the better of Friday's contest. The game will be called at 3:15 at Fair Grounds Park.

McCOMBS WILL RESIGN

William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has notified President Wilson that he will be unable to continue in his present position after the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis and will be unable to direct Mr. Wilson's campaign for re-election. Replying to Mr. McCombs' letter the President expressed regret. Fred B. Lynch, National Committeeman from Minnesota, is expected to succeed Mr. McCombs and conduct the campaign. Mr. McCombs retires to devote his entire time to his private business matters.

GOES TO LEXINGTON

Mr. Walter Clinkenbeard, of Winchester, but who formerly resided in this city, has accepted a position with the C. & O. Railway Co., as ticket agent at Lexington. Mr. Clinkenbeard has been connected with the C. & O. R. R. for some time. He is a splendid young man and is sure to make good in his new position.

IMPROVEMENTS AT DEPOT

The freight office of the C. & O. depot has been enlarged and many improvements made. The old quarters were small and inadequate but since the changes have been made the quarters are most commodious.

WANT A NEW METER?

Bazaar! Bazaar!

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will have their Christmas Bazaar on the 15th and 16th and Court Day dinner the 18th of December.

TO CONFER WITH OFFICIALS

General Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff of United States Army at San Antonio.

General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States Army, and General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, will formally discuss at El Paso or some other agreed point near there the questions that have arisen because of the entrance into Mexico of General Pershing's punitive expedition.

General Scott would not discuss the character of his instructions, but it was expected at government headquarters that the two officers will discuss the various articles of the supposed protocol pending between the two governments which provides conditions under which armed forces may be sent into the territory of the other country to run down bandit bands. Incident to this discussion it is expected the further occupation of Mexican territory by General Pershing forces will be considered.

General Funston sent to General Pershing orders for the reconcentration of his troops along the lines he had recommended, and which had been approved. Already General Pershing has begun drawing in the mobile forces which have been operating in advance of the southern terminus of his long line of communication. His headquarters will be moved from Namiquipa to Colonia Dublan, and stronger units will be grouped along the shortened line from Columbus to a point nearer the border.

This new disposition of troops pending diplomatic developments, it is expected, will serve the purpose not only of defense but will enable General Pershing to make rapid moves in any direction in case of necessity.

Reports from General Pershing indicate that Francisco Villa had been located again, this time west of Parral in the mountains of Western Chihuahua. He was last reported at Nonoava, eight-five miles southwest of Satevo. The report indicated that Villa was wounded, but only slightly, and that he was far from being incapacitated. General Funston regarded the information that General Pershing had secured as authentic. No troops have been sent in pursuit because it was said such a campaign could be successfully conducted only after many more troops had been sent into Mexico.

Unofficial reports indicate that General Carranza had sent gradually into the north an army much larger than that of the American forces and that a great part of it is in a position to conduct a pursuit of Villa and his scattered organization.

AUTO HITS MAN

In making the turn at the intersection of Main and Maysville street Monday afternoon, Mr. R. L. Coleman ran his Monroe automobile into a pedestrian named Pergam, but fortunately Mr. Coleman stopped the car before the man was injured. Mr. Coleman was on the right side of the street and was running his car slowly and was in no way to blame. Mr. Pergam attached no blame to Mr. Coleman. Mr. Coleman, who is the hustling special agent of the State Mutual Assurance Co., is accused by a number of his friends of attempting to write the man an insurance policy immediately after the accident.

NICE CROWD AT CONFERENCE

About one hundred men accepted the invitations sent out last week and attended the Business Men's Dinner Conference held at Ringo's Hall Monday night. A discussion of the improvement of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association was had and considerable enthusiasm and interest was manifested. Dr. W. P. Gansfield, President of Centre College, Mr. P. L. Corbin, Mr. Stanley Harris, Mr. John G. Winn and Dr. W. R. Thompson made addresses.

WOMAN BREAKS LEG

While walking near her home at Anron's Run Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Annis Anderson fell and suffered a fracture of the right leg. Because of her age, 87 years, her condition is considered serious. She is the mother of Matt Ford, a prominent farmer, with whom she resided, and is a sister of "Uncle Johnnie" Helton, who last fall celebrated his 100th anniversary and who lives in the same home.

NARROW ESCAPE

When the pony driven by Mrs. Claude Dunavent scared and overturned the buggy Monday afternoon Mrs. Dunavent and little son, Mrs. Wm. Eubank, Jr., and little child were thrown out and while badly shaken up and considerably bruised, they were not seriously injured. Their escape from death was miraculous.

BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL

The body of Mrs. Mary E. Hackett, who died at her home at Norton, Va., was brought to this city Friday for interment in Maehpelah cemetery. She was related to several people in this and surrounding counties.

A CORRECTION

It has been reported in some of the local papers that Mr. Albert Jones would leave to make his future home in St. Louis, together with his family. Mr. Jones advises us that he is going to St. Louis but does not intend to make that city his home and will return to Mt. Sterling within a few months.

SOON TO START WORK

The road work in this county will start within a short time and we understand will be pushed as rapidly as possible so as to get as much done during the summer months as possible. Mr. W. F. Horton will have charge of the work.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. J. S. FLYNN

Mrs. Annie Flynn, wife of Mr. J. S. Flynn, died at her home in Winchester Sunday morning at ten o'clock after an illness of three years. Mrs. Flynn before her marriage was Miss Annie Rupard, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rupard, who were killed in a railroad accident. She was twice married, her first husband was Fielding R. Flynn, who died about twenty-five years ago. Of this union two sons survive, O. C. Flynn, of Lexington, and O. M. Flynn, of Somerset. She afterwards married a brother of her first husband, James S. Flynn, who survives her, with the following step-children: Mrs. Cora Long, of Winchester; Mrs. J. D. Moulton, of Hule, Mo.; Mrs. Annie Mack, of Kansas City, Mo.; Ewing Flynn, of this city; DeWard, Virgil and William Flynn, of Lexington. A brother, Waller Rupard; a niece and two nephews also survive, Mrs. W. W. Eeton, of Winchester; Samuel Flynn, of Nebraska, and Harvey Flynn, of Missouri. Mrs. Flynn was born in Clark county 62 years ago. She was a woman of strong character, and was beloved and esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral services were held at the Saints' church, in Winchester, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. S. Chapel and Rev. C. M. Byrd. The burial took place in the Winchester cemetery.

WILL STREETS BE IMPROVED?

Considerable interest has been aroused since it has been noised around that the City Council would order several of the principal streets of the city improved by being bricked or if the property owners preferred asphalt, that method would be adopted. While the improving of the streets would work a hardship on a few still in the present financial condition of the city that is the only chance for good streets left. The Council is made up of safe, sane business men and whatever action they take will be for the good of the people as a whole. It is claimed by some that to force the paving of all streets with brick would bankrupt many people. Petitions have been secured offering to macadamize several of the streets by private subscription of the citizens. These petitions will be presented to the next meeting of the City Council, when it is likely that some action will be taken in the matter.

RACES THIS WEEK

The running races start at Lexington Thursday and from the newspaper reports there are more good horses quartered there this year than ever before. The purses offered are larger than ever and the clean manner in which the track is conducted insure the patrons an honest run for their money. Quite a large number of people from this city and county will attend the meeting.

The Kentucky Derby which will be run at Louisville next month will be worth $15,000 and it is expected a large field will face the starter in this big race.

HORSE RUNS AWAY

A horse belonging to the McCormick Lumber Co., ran away Tuesday afternoon and caused considerable excitement. He was hitched to one of the large delivery wagons of the company and ran through the main portion of the town. A buggy was struck and damaged as was also a Ford automobile, and lumber scattered along the streets but no one was injured. The wagon was demolished.

MAY MAKE CONCESSIONS

Germany Believed to be Willing to Make Partial Concessions to United States.

Indications that powerful influences in German politics are opposed to any action by the Berlin government which might lead to the severance of diplomatic relations with the United States are understood to be contained in confidential dispatches received Monday by the State Department from Ambassador Gerard. Socialists and labor leaders are represented as being particularly adverse to any such move.

Other dispatches from Mr. Gerard were said to contain strong intimations that the Berlin government would make some concessions to the United States in reply to the note demanding the immediate abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare. It still is uncertain however, whether the concessions will be sufficiently broad in their scope to meet the American demands.

Officials allowed it to become known that Mr. Gerard's dispatches indicated that Germany would go to great length to preserve friendly relations with the United States. Mr. Gerard is understood to have gained his view during conversation with Berlin officials, including Foreign Minister Von Jagow.

His dispatches are said to emphasize the difficulty by which the German government is confronted in endeavoring to find a way to meet the demands of the United States without arousing the element which insists upon a relentless submarine warfare against the shipping of the Entente Allies.

The State Department was awaiting a dispatch from Mr. Gerard reporting the result of a lengthy conference with Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Imperial German Chancellor. Press dispatches announcing that the conference had taken place were closely read. Officials expressed a particular interest in that part of the press report which indicated that the reply to the American note would not be made until after the Chancellor has another opportunity to confer with the Emperor who is at the front.

The fact that the conference lasted more than an hour was regarded as being a hopeful sign, it being pointed out that if the German government was disposed not to meet the American demands it was improbable there would have been a discussion of such length. A report from Mr. Gerard is expected shortly.

All of Mr. Gerard's dispatches received since the present situation arose are held by administration officials to be of a highly confidential nature. Consequently only a general knowledge of their contents is available.

"KEEP TO THE RIGHT"

The City Council has had several large signs painted bearing the words "Keep to the Right" erected in the center of several street intersections and the police have been instructed to see that the traffic laws are observed. This is certainly a step in the right direction as it was only a matter of time until someone would have been killed by a machine or vehicle turning a corner on the wrong side. The idea of "Safety First" is being observed everywhere and everyone should encourage same.

WILL BROKEN

Nine of the jurors considering the will of Miss Sallie W. Greene rendering a verdict setting aside the paper offered and declaring it not to be her last will and testament. The estate of the decedent will now be distributed under the laws of descent and distribution and her mother, Mrs. Catherine Greene will inherit it all. Whether the case will go to the Court of Appeals has not yet been announced.

DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED

DIES IN TEXAS

Relatives here have received news of the death of Mr. Robert L. Parker, which occurred at his home in El Paso, Tex., April 11th, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis. Mr. Parker was about thirty-five years of age and was a native of this city, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parker, who now live at Houston, Tex., having resided here for several years. He spent much of his time at his ranch near Columbus, N. Mex., the border town recently raided by Villa bandits. Mr. Parker was a cousin of Mrs. John T. Wood, of this city, and is survived besides his parents by his wife.

There are times in the lives of the wisest of men when they are so utterly foolish as to be sublime. It is ridiculous, superbly idiotic. No, we are not going to tell you what this is. The wise ones know of it, and other suspect, while those who neither know nor suspect can have a jolly time guessing.

But, hell, however, has not been shut off the map.

The wise man never stops to argue with a sharp tongued wife. He beats it.

OPPORTUNITY OR YOU

Some people are always waiting for opportunity to take them by the hand. It never does, and it never will.

Opportunity is ever present with us, it is by our side, it dogs our steps, it never leaves us. But it never reaches out its hand.

We must do the reaching, the grasping, the improving.

Don't sit still and wait for opportunity to come to you. Go out and hunt it, and hunt till you find it. It is flirting with you every day in the year, every hour of the day.

One of your greatest opportunities lies in what you may accomplish in aid of your home town, for what is good for the town is even better for you. If you want your town to do something for you, you should first do something for the town. Opportunity believes in that, and greets the one who does it.

Don't expect to receive everything and give nothing. Opportunity does not approve of that, will not sanction it, will not lend its aid and encouragement. Only fools expect that, and fools seldom step beyond the shadow of their own foolishness.

The wise man makes his own opportunity, and that begets other and greater opportunities, and they breed success.

Your future is not up to opportunity—it is up to you.

CITY COUNCIL FAVORS

MORE PAVED STREETS

At an informal caucus of the City Council last Tuesday night to discuss the proposition of the extension of street paving it developed that a majority of the members favored the movement. In all probability the Council at its next regular meeting will order the paving of several of the city's principal macadam streets either in brick or asphalt, and work will likely be inaugurated as soon as possible. Several members of the Council take the stand that in view of the depleted state of the city treasury and the future uncertainty of available funds for street improvement the paving of these principal macadam streets has become a necessary expedient, and is about the only way that we can realize any street improvement for some time to come.

Time was when we could make ourselves fairly understood by calling it a lie, but now a more appropriate and expressive term will have to be coined for some of the stuff the yellow correspondents are sending up from the border. The other day Villa was reported in five different places, was minus one leg, crippled in the other, shot through the stomach, well and hearty, and dead and buried all at one and the same time. Even we could not equal that record for sublime truth and veracity. We pass.

No, dear madame, it is no longer necessary to go through your husband's pockets while he slumbers—and snores. Just fill him up with a good breakfast, then tuck him gently under the chin, smooth the wrinkles from his furrowed brow, and see if he ever that you heard a "dear little chicken" call him the handsomest of men, and he'll promptly shell out everything he owns except his false teeth and his vanity.

It is comforting, though, to think that our boys will not return from Europe entirely empty handed. They will have a perfectly good coat of tan.

LABOR INSPECTOR HERE

Miss Myrue Wagers, of Lexington, Assistant State Labor Inspector, was in Mt. Sterling last week investigating conditions and acquainting local concerns with the requirements of the new law. She is employed in the interest of female labor and visited every store in town where women are employed and stated she found conditions here much better than in the majority of places she had inspected. She will return to Mt. Sterling in about thirty days for a second inspection of the few instances which she found did not conform to the new law. In these cases an explanation of the requirements of the act was gone into fully. The law provides a fine and imprisonment for each violation. Some of the salient features of the law in which Miss Wagers is chiefly interested are: No woman under twenty-one shall be employed more than ten hours a day, except in domestic or nursing work; firms employing women shall provide seats for their use; proper toilet rooms for women must be kept. Miss Wagers distributed copies of the law among the concerns affected.

Further comment upon his breeding is superfluous as he is one of the greatest bred horses in the world.

Mainleaf's Racing Career

Mainleaf (2) 2:23, champion two-year-old colt of 1910 over half mile track. Mainleaf finished fourth to Necia at Detroit in 2:14 1/4, 2:13 1/4 and 2:14 1/2, at that time the fastest three consecutive heats that had ever been trotted by a two-year-old. Mainleaf finished second in each heat to Justice Brook in the Kentucky Futurity in 2:11 1/2 and 2:09 1/2, which was then the world's record for two-year-old stallions. Mainleaf finished second to Silent Brigade in the Lexington States in 2:10 3/4 and 2:10 3/4, which was the first time a two-year-old ever trotted two winning heats better than 2:11, which was another world's record.

In his three-year-old form he trotted a sensational race at Detroit which was won by Miss Stokes in 2:08 1/2, 2:08 3/4 and 2:09 3/4. Mainleaf winning the second heat, but the judges credited it to Miss Stokes. This race being the fastest three-year-old race ever trotted in the month of August. The next start was at Indianapolis in the Western Horseman Stake, where he defeated Miss Stokes and others in as brilliant a contest as was ever witnessed on a race track, time 2:11 1/4, 2:09 1/2 and 2:09 1/4. He was a money winner at Detroit in the Matron Stake, he was a heat winner in the Horse Review Stake at Columbus and in the Kentucky Futurity he was a double heat winner and all things considered, trotted the greatest race a colt ever trotted in the world. The time was 2:08 1/4, 2:08 1/2, 2:08 3/4, 2:07 1/2, 2:11 1/4, 2:10 3/4, which was the world's fastest six heat race for three-year-olds at that time. He also won third money in the Stallion Stake at Lexington, in other words, Mainleaf has been a contender in every race and every heat he ever trotted, and I believe if a vote were taken on the gamest trotting colt that ever raced, Mainleaf would be a winner.

Mainleaf will make the season of 1916 at the Fair Grounds, Mt. Sterling, Ky., at the very low fee of $25.00 to insure a living foal. Never before has a horse of Mainleaf's class stood at so low a fee, but realizing that a horse must have a large number of foals to be a great sire, I have made the fee at the above named price in order that any one may have an opportunity to breed to him. A GOOD PLAN

Monday's Courier-Journal endorses a plan of co-operation between the farmers and the county officials, as regards road building, and seems to think it a new one. As a matter of fact, the plan has worked successfully in Montgomery county for a number of years and last year more than $2,000 in free hauling was secured in this way. The Courier-Journal, however, well states the plan, in part as follows:

"If the plan of road improvement which Judge De Haven, of Oldham county is explaining in other counties, in response to invitations from Good Roads Association works as well as it seems that it should work, Judge De Haven and his associates in the Oldham Fiscal Court should earn credit for having solved the vexed problem of procuring general road improvement in counties whose levy is not large enough to permit the expense of work done by contract, with the usual losses and leakages of the contract system.

The Fiscal Court in Oldham proposes to furnish crushed stone at the quarry for any road which needs it provided the farmers whose property abuts upon that road, or others interested in its improvement, will haul the stone and spread it at their own expense. There is more than one obvious advantage in this plan from the standpoint of economy.

Where contracts for roadmaking or repairing are let the contractor often applies one yard of actual stone plus two yards of imaginary stone and collects from the county for three yards at a price at which a private purchaser could buy four yards. He makes his contract upon a basis of fancy prices for the labor of men and the work of teams, and a large allowance of profit for the value of his own services. Under the plan which Judge De Haven is recommending, and which, it seems, has met with a hearty response in Oldham, the road which is allowed 1,000 yards of stone will get that amount because the farmers who haul it will see to it that there is no mismeasurements. The cost of teams and men will be eliminated. If the county engineer supervises the work as presumably, he will, much should be gained, and nothing lost, by eliminating the contractor's profit from the cost of roadmaking."

Every one should observe the "turn to the right" signs recently placed in the middle of a number of street intersections. Their observance may save some one's life.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS

After having been in session six days, the Grand Jury adjourned last Friday morning after submitting the following report to Judge Young:

"We, the grand jury, for the April term, 1916, would most respectfully report that we have been in session six days; have diligently inquired into the few violations of the law which were brought to our attention and returned into court indictments where the facts justified. We find, however, that there was very little lawlessness to investigate. In fact, our county appears to be in the cleanest and most peaceful condition of any in the State. We feel our citizens are entitled to congratulations upon this condition and truly hope the next grand jury may find things equally as favorable. We believe this is due, in the main, to the impartial, rigorous and prompt manner in which the local city and county officers are enforcing the law.

By direction of your Honor, we have made a special effort to ascertain whether any one has been operating any game of chance since the last term of this court and have been unable to secure any evidence to sustain an indictment for either maintaining such a game or gambling in any manner and our investigation leads us to believe that the practice has been effectively stopped.

We have examined the public buildings and county offices and find them to be in good condition and well kept.

In conclusion we desire to thank the Court, the Sheriff and other officials for their uniform courtesy and helpful assistance during our sittings.

Respectfully submitted,
S. S. Pinney, Foreman.

Peace Wave Swept Ancient Egypt.

Until Cambyses with his Persian myriads swept across defeated Kham, and Phoenicia and Greece, adopting her stored-up wisdom, added thereto the graces of a more artistic ornamentation and aggressive commercial enterprise. Egypt led all nations in the arts of peace and the accumulation of wealth by peaceful trade. And while it is true that individual enterprise was largely hampered by the royal control of foreign trade, it must be remembered that the king acted largely as a trustee for his people and that the Egyptians under most of their sovereigns probably suffered less from plague and famine, and were more justly ruled than most of their contemporaries.—"Nobility and the Trades—The Merchant." WHY IS A CHURCH?

We ask the question not in a spirit of irrelevancy or indifference toward religion, but through a profound desire to know just why the Divine Creator has decreed that His word shall be expounded in a house set aside for that express purpose—between four walls that are used only at intervals and then, for but short periods of time. We will be grateful to any brilliant mind that will give us the answer that lies deep beneath the surface, that to us is enshrouded in impenetrable mystery.

Everybody knows we have churches. Some know them intimately, many only from a distance. Some attend the services; others ought to. Some are benefitted by contact, while others are indifferent.

But why, we ask, is a church? Per chance we may have hazy ideas, and may talk learnedly on the benefits of churches and religion—for they are a benefit, a great and lasting benefit.

Religion is the one bright spot in this world of sin and corruption. It is the strong arm that lifts us up and keeps us from sinking to the level of the beast. It is the greatest thing in this world of many wonders.

But why the church, the house of four walls that are lighted for hours and darkened for days?

We could worship God as devoutly at our own firesides, or in our own places of business, or on the streets, or behind the plow. We could worship Him anywhere if the spirit to worship were there.

The minister could mingle amongst us and by word here and there expound the teachings of the gentle Nazarine. He could speak from the street corners, or from any other vantage point at which crowds assemble. He would reach many people who never see the inside of a church, whose souls are precious though they be housed in the squalor of poverty. And his words would be heard, and heeded, for no matter how steeped in sin we may be, when the man of God speaks we listen and think—and a few remember.

There is no story so fascinating, so gripping, so lasting, as the one which is as old as man—the story of God's creation of the world and of His efforts to save those of His own creation. But the story of God's creation of the world and of His efforts to save those of His own creation. But the story may be told wherever the voice can be heard.

We have churches, we need more churches, many more of them, for the good that comes from them is a blessing to mankind, is a powerful stimulant to the life of this community.

God never permitted the creation of churches without a reason. There is a reason, many of them, and they are all powerful. But there is one great reason which dwarfs all others, and that is the one reason which we still would like to know. What is it? Who can lift the veil of obscurity and speak with divine authority, speak even as God Himself would have them speak for the enlightenment of the law mind? Some may speak, may give us reasons as they are blessed with the light, but the great answer is yet to come, and we would like to hear.

We have the church, AND IT IS GOOD. We believe in it, we endeavor to aid it, to encourage the good work that springs from it.

But still the question: Why is a church?

What is the answer of all answers?

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Apr. 25, 1916.
Editors Advocate,
Mt. Sterling, Ky.

The original Home-Coming Week planned for Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county during the week of the Montgomery County Fair to be held July 19-22, will be carried out and every effort will be made to make the week a success. The original plans will not be changed in the least, notwithstanding that a date for a Central Kentucky Home Coming was set at Lexington Thursday for the week of August 7th. The citizens of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county should rally to the support of the Fair Association and help make Fair Week the REAL Home Coming Week for this city and county. The motto of our people should be "Mt. Sterling First," and no second choice. That spirit, and that spirit alone, will build up our city and county. We want your co-operation, as well as of every citizen in this city and county in this movement. The Montgomery County Fair is YOUR Fair. It brings thousands of dollars into the business channels of Mt. Sterling every year, and is a big drawing card and a booster for the county. We appeal to the good sense and loyalty of every citizen in the county to stand by the local Fair Association and help build up local institutions rather than destroy them by giving support and influence elsewhere.

The "Real Home Coming Week" for Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county will be held as first announced during the week of the Montgomery County Fair. Help us make it the success that it deserves to be. We must stand together. Are you with us?

Respectfully,

HEARD BATTLE STORY FROM PROCTOR'S LIPS

J. G. Trimble Learned of Historic Event of 134 Years Ago from a Participant.

The following article which appeared in Wednesday evening's Louisville Post, will be of interest to local people.

A famous battle between Indians and white settlers, known in history as "Estill's defeat," was fought on soil now included in Montgomery county, Ky., March 22, 1782.

That was 134 years ago, before the War of the Revolution was ended, before the United States was an established government, yet there is living in Mt. Sterling today a citizen who has heard the story from the lips of a man who took part in it.

Mr. James Greenville Trimble, head of the Mt. Sterling National Bank, is the Kentuckian who constitutes such a remarkable link between the present and long ago. He is almost ninety-three years old, and he heard the story from Joseph Proctor, who lived to a great age and died in 1844.

Mr. Trimble has given the Evening Post an account of Proctor and his story of that battle in the following letter:

Editor Evening Post: I notice in your issue of March 25th you publish a letter written by the Hon. Henry L. Stone, of your city, which is an extract from a short history of Montgomery county, prepared by the Hon. Richard Reid, formerly of Mt. Sterling, in 1876, in which he gives a minute description of one of the greatest and hard-fought battles (considering the number engaged) that was ever fought upon Kentucky soil. He especially alludes, in a complimentary manner, to the gallant services performed by one of the soldiers, named Joseph Proctor, who was the last survivor of those who participated in that great battle, which is known in history as Estill's Defeat, which took place 134 years ago.

I had the pleasure, as well as the honor, of being personally and intimately acquainted with Mr. Proctor, having lived in the same town and within 100 yards of him for two years, and I met with him almost every day. He was a large man, six feet high, weighing about 180 pounds. He was a local Methodist preacher, having been ordained by Bishop Francis Ashbury (the first Methodist bishop ever in America, who was born in England, August 20, 1745, came to America in 1771, and died at Fredericksburg, Va., on March 31, 1816, 100 years ago.)

My acquaintance with Mr. Proctor was during the last three years of his life. His death occurred on December 2, 1844. I attended his funeral and burial. He was buried with military honors at Irvine, Ky. A company of fifty militia fired their guns as his body was lowered into the grave. He was buried in an old, dilapidated and unused cemetery, which has not been used for that purpose since, and there is not now a stone to mark his last resting place. I would suggest that the descendants of the man who was carried on the shoulders of Proctor from the battlefield to Madison county, a distance of twenty-five miles, erect a monument to perpetuate his memory. Capt. Estill was honored with a marble monument at Richmond, Ky., which cost several thousand dollars. Why not give one to Proctor, who was a very poor man, and had no property whatever?

During my residence of two years at Irvine, Ky., I had the position of Deputy Clerk of the Estill Circuit and County Courts, at the large salary of $100 a year and board. Major Robert Clark (nephew of Gov. James Clark, whose home was at Winchester) was clerk of both courts, and he being one of the principal pillars of the Methodist church in that town, Proctor made the office his lodging place. During the summer season and in favorable weather he would spend much of his time at our office, and the people of the town and county would often call to see him and hear him talk and relate the many thrilling scenes through which he had passed with the Indians, and the experiences he had with Daniel Boone, Simon Kenton, Calhoun and many other pioneer heroes, which was always entertaining to the people and was a favorite subject with him for discussion.

Mr. Proctor, on account of his advanced age, impaired health and other infirmities, did not preach any during my acquaintance with him, but he never failed to attend his weekly prayer-meetings and Sunday-school, and occasionally he would deliver to each of them eloquent exhortations and was able in prayer; I was never acquainted with a more devoted and consecrated Christian. I am perhaps the only man now living who was personally acquainted with a soldier who participated in that bloody conflict, which occurred 134 years ago.

Capt. Estill, with his twenty-five men, overtook the Indians with a similar number at Hinkston creek, a very small stream, not more than four or five miles to its head. He found three of the Indians on the west side of the creek engaged in skinning a buffalo, the balance of them had passed over to the opposite side of the creek and were taking their rest. The three Indians on the west side immediately joined their main body on the east side, and the firing then commenced; every man on both sides took a tree for protection, so far as was possible, with the creek between the conflicting sides. When the fight continued for some time without any apparent result, Lieut. Miller, with six soldiers of Estill's command, withdrew from the company, ostensibly for the purpose of crossing the creek above and getting into the rear of the Indians; but instead, they left for parts unknown and never did return. This reduced Capt. Estill's fighting strength to eighteen against twenty-five. It is supposed that the Indians suspected there had been a division of Capt. Estill's forces, on account of slack firing, and they, therefore, made a charge in a body across the creek, most of them with tomahawks and knives.

All of the real hand-to-hand fighting took place on the west bank of the creek, the result of which is so well described by Col. Henry L. Stone in his letter which you published, and which corresponds with the history I have of it from Joseph Proctor. I will, therefore, not allude to it, except to say that Capt. James Estill, who was a very small man, came in contact with the largest Indian that belonged to the company, who would weigh over 200 pounds, armed with butcher knives. Mr. Proctor told me that he was standing nearby, but could give Estill no relief. He witnessed the giving away of his arm, which had been broken a few months previous, which placed him completely in the power of the savage, who plunged a large butcher knife into his left side which penetrated his heart, and Capt. Estill instantly fell dead at the feet of the savage. Within ten seconds thereafter the trusty rifle of Joseph Proctor, with its deadly and unerring aim, placed the lifeless body of the big Indian by the side of the dead body of Capt. Estill. Mr. Proctor never did admit in my presence that he killed the Indian, but in speaking of the incident he would say, "I never heard of that big Indian killing anybody afterward, nor committing any depredations."

A few years previous to his death, Mr. Proctor was brought to this county and taken over the supposed battle ground to see if he could identify the place where the battle occurred, but he was unable to do so. In 1782, when the battle occurred, the county was a wilderness—nothing but timber and cane; whereas, at the time of his visit it was all cleared out and in cultivation and bluegrass.

I am a native of Morgan county, Ky., and was born in a log cabin on a farm upon which Hazel Green was afterward located, on the 15th day of June, 1823. I will, therefore, be ninety-three years of age on the 15th day of the coming June. I continued to live in Hazel Green for fifty-three years, and since then I have resided in Mt. Sterling. I have lived under the administrations of twenty-four presidents of the United States, commencing with James Monroe, and including Woodrow Wilson, who will be our next president. This includes all the presidents we have had since the formation of our government, save four—Washington, Jefferson, John Adams and Madison. Their political complexion was as follows: Democrats, twelve; Republicans, ten; Whigs, three; Federalists, two; making twenty-seven. Washington had no politics, but was president of all the people of the United States. I have been a voter for seventy-two years, and during that time I have never held an office of any kind, and, with the exception of local and municipal elections, I have never scratched the Democratic ticket hut once. The first vote I ever cast for president and vice president was for James K. Polk and George M. Dallas.

I can say that which few men of my age can say. My general health has always been good, and I have never felt the effects of old age. On the 4th of June, 1907, I fell down the elevator shaft in the Louisville Hotel of your city and sustained injuries of such a character that I have never been able to walk alone without the aid of crutches, and were it not for my crippled condition, occasioned by that fall, I could now take daily horseback rides, of which I am very fond, of from forty to fifty miles a day, with ease. At one time during the Civil War I rode on horseback one hundred miles without stopping forty minutes.

GERMANY MUST ABANDON METHOD OF SUBMARINE WAR

President Wilson told Congress, assembled in joint session shortly after 1 o'clock last Wednesday, he has given Germany irrevocable notification that the United States will break off diplomatic relations if her illegal submarine campaign is continued.

A note, America's last word, practically an ultimatum and demanding an immediate reply, presumably was in the Berlin Foreign Office as the President was speaking. It was dispatched in accordance with the President's plan to have it before the German Government at the same moment he was addressing the American Congress.

The President asked no action whatever of Congress. He simply informed it of the accumulation of facts proving that Germany's assurances to the United States are being violated; that the submarine campaign, despite the earnest protests of the United States, is being conducted with renewed vigor in contravention of all the laws of nations and humanity, and that he means to sever relations unless it is brought within the law. Diplomatic history of the world shows that such a course is almost certain to be followed by war.

The President's note and his address to Congress are final. They mark the end of diplomatic exchanges. A continuance of the long-standing friendly relations, the President made clear, depends alone upon Germany's conduct.

WHY YOU ARE PAYING MORE FOR YOUR PRINTING

Only a few of the business men of Mt. Sterling are kicking on the advance price of their printing, but all over the United States there is a tremendous howl. From present indications there is going to be a paper famine in this country. For the past four months there has been a steady advance in the price of paper and as we write these lines it is still soaring. A commodity even so indirectly related to the demands of war as paper is showing the prevailing tendencies to such a degree as seriously to embarrass publishers. The higher price of paper stock and the difficulty of obtaining it at all in England was a chief factor in the discontinuance in March of the London Daily Standard, after a career of sixty years, for a considerable portion of which it was the most important organ of the middle classes in England. In America the demand for paper has been increasing for six months as a result of general business activity. At the same time, supplies used in its manufacture have been decreased by war conditions, and in some cases have almost been shut off. The supply of old rags is affected by the cutting off of the importations from the European peasantry and by the demand for the making of gun-cotton. The chemicals used in bleaching the paper produced by sulphuric acid and alum are being devoured by the manufacturers of explosives, while importations of jute have fallen off until the price is doubled. An embargo has been placed on ships

WOODFORD STOCK FARM

SEASON 1916

STERLING CHIEF 2079

In order to co-operate with those who own good mares but do not like to go beyond fifteen dollars for a season, I have decided to reduce the fee of my horse to that amount, hoping that you will not let that reasonable fee keep you from believing that he is the equal of any horse standing on Kentucky soil, first as to ancestry, second as to the horse himself and third as to the kind of stuff he is producing.

ANCESTRY

Sterling Chief 2079 is by Bourbon Chief 976, whose standing and achievements in the saddle horse world are so well known that it is not necessary to dwell upon them. First dam is by Forest Denmark 153, who sired fifty-two colts that sold for an average of $850 each. Probably no horse in saddle horse history has turned out more high-class horses. Second dam was by Blue Jeans 3. This second dam was a full sister to Roscoe who sired, during three years in this county, 8 colts that sold for an average of $1250. He, himself, sold for $1800.

WHAT HE IS

Color a rich dark chestnut, two feet white and star, 15-3/4 hands high, weight 1150 pounds. A horse of size and substance. Has best of bone and foot. Motion is absolutely true and straight and I have never had him in company with horse or mare that could throw dust in his face. Action is perfectly balanced in slow gait, walk, trot, rack and canter. Disposition could not be better. Is a perfect natural ailed horse, this feature of importance to breeders, has never been worked upon in any way, and he imparts it along with his other good traits to his offspring. He has the finish, type and conformation that a stock horse should have.

HIS PRODUCE

He is the sire of Thornton Chief that sold under the hammer recently for $1500, he being the sire of the famous mare, Eloise Thornton, winner of first premium in $6000 Pacific Coast Gaited Saddle Horse Futurity at Panama Pacific Exposition. This same mare won first premium in weanling form in Missouri Saddle Horse Futurity, Missouri State Fair. Thornton Chief won first premium in champion saddle class at Springfield. Sterling Chief is the sire of Pierpont, winner of first premium which was $1100, in the most important class at the First International Live Stock Exposition, held at Havana, Cuba. Pierpont sold for $1000 thus paying for himself at one show. Sterling Chief is the sire of Sterling Duke, the gelding that sold for $2500; winner of first premium at Springfield, O., Horse Show, also first at Rochester Industrial Exposition. Sterling Chief is the sire of Angelus Butterfly (Bob Lloyd mare) winner of first premium State Fair Stakes at California State Fair. Sterling Chief is the sire of Greenbrier Lady, winner of Sweepstakes Gaited Class also Fine Harness Class at Fairfield, Iowa, recently. He is the sire of Royal Chief Denmark, that sold for $1000; of W. C. P. that sold for $1000; Sterling Bourbon the gelding that sold for $1300; the Turkey gelding that sold for $1200; the mare Iola, that sold for $800; Tobacco that sold for $500 as a weanling, etc.

His colts make excellent business horses, having intelligence, being easily trained and taking to the gaits readily.

ments of wood pulp from Norway and Sweden, while Canada stopped access to her vast resources some time ago. The newspaper publisher is, indeed, hard hit by war conditions in many other items of supplies besides the basic one of paper stock. Practically everything going into the manufacture of a newspaper has increased in price from 10 to 50 per cent.—inks, owing to the advance in the cost of acids and dyes, from 300 to 3,000 per cent.; type, owing to the higher cost of lead, tin and antimony—even the rubber and felt blankets wrapped around the press rollers add their quota to the increased "cost of living" of the newspaper.

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

RAISING PURE BRED HOGS IS A PAYING INVESTMENT

Perhaps the two most noticeable wants of Kentucky agriculturists, are the lack of sufficient live stock on the average farm and the exposure of naked land to winter rains.

With regard to the live stock situation, perhaps no phase of it offers greater opportunities to the average farmer than hog raising. A few suggestions on this subject might not be amiss here.

With the exception of milking dairy cows, hardly any investment of money in feed for live stock is more promptly returned than that invested in hog raising. Many other arguments in favor of an increase in the swine industry might be easily cited.

However, in raising swine as is the case with all other stock we can afford to raise none but the best. By this is not meant any particular breed, but that the animals should be of some pure breed. Kentucky farmers are noticeably contented with things other than the best, which condition should not prevail. A good grade is better than a poor animal of pure breeding, but generally speaking the pure bred animal excels the scrub or cross, and again it is a well recognized fact that the second cross is of little value, and the herd of the pure breeder must then be sought and his own price paid for a fresh start.

Those of us who have had any experience on the market know what it means to get the top price, or on the other hand to take fifty cents or a dollar below the top price because our hogs do not top the market. This discrepancy much be deducted from the net profits, which are none too large at best.

Inheritance largely fixes the possibility of an animal, furnishes the detailed plans and specifications before hand, while the feeding later builds the structure and maintains it. It costs no more, if as much, to put a pound of flesh on a pure bred hog than it does on a cross bred or scrub animal, and the difference in the selling price warrants an absolute changing from non-descript to pure bred animals.

Intelligent feeding of swine can be made to accomplish surprising gains. Farmers generally agree that it is very difficult to make satisfactory gains in young swine during the winter, but in suggestions along this line, a word of commendation should be given to rye pasture for the late fall, during open winter weather, and in the early spring. Young rye is rich in protein which is so essential to growing the body of a young animal, and without an adequate supply of which he soon assumes a starved appearance. Young rye is as good as clover for this purpose.

It is a well known fact that an animal well fed while young is a more satisfactory feeder later on, and that an animal starved while young can seldom if ever be made to put on the best gains afterwards.

Skimmed milk is one of the best known supplements for corn in feeding young swine, and we will do ourselves no harm by making an effort to produce more skimmed milk, for the dairy industry even on a very moderate scale is highly profitable.

Soy beans and corn in the proportion of one to six make an excellent ration for young pigs, and the soy beans should by all means be grown on the home farm, for we thereby serve the double purpose of improving the soil by growing the beans, and we provide one of the best possible pig feeds. High grade digester funkage, one part, and corn nine parts, is a good ration for young stock. For finishing the mature hog, probably corn alone is best for all practical purposes. By proper breeding and feeding we can obtain surprisingly rapid gains and early maturity, thereby lessening the cost of gains.

BECKHAM MEN AS DELEGATES

It was pretty generally understood on yesterday that there would be no disposition upon the part of the friends of Governor Augustus Owsley Stanley to bar as delegates to the State Convention to be held here May 24th the friends of Senator Beckham.—Lexington Herald.

There had better not be any such disposition upon the part of Governor Augustus Owsley Stanley and the others upon whom will rest responsibility for the election in Kentucky this fall, if they desire Woodrow Wilson to carry the state. The Beckham Democrats in Kentucky are just as good Democrats as the Stanley Democrats, and if they are to be barred from the Lexington Convention they refuse to take their opinions ready-made from the brewers and distillers, arrangements may as well be made at the Democratic headquarters at Washington to get along without the electoral vote of Kentucky this fall.

We had last August a Convention in which the bitter, proscriptive policy of the Governor who would not bow the knee to Baal. The result is well known. Following that convention a Democratic majority of 30,000 was reduced to a paltry 400. We trust that this same crowd will not again be so blinded by passion as to repeat its blundering course.

No one doubts that Governor Stanley and his friends are to be in complete control of the State Conventions, and no one will blame them for the ordinary use of their power in the selection of delegates and the make-up of party committees. But if the test is made that "no 'dry' man need apply" for a seat in the Lexington meeting, or as a delegate to St. Louis, Governor Stanley's magnificent majority of 400 will be endangered this fall.—Elizabethtown News.

POLICE JUDGE IS RILED

Police Judge Scobee, of Winchester, is up in arms against those responsible for the resolution offered in the Council last week for an investigation into the affairs of his office, principally for the purpose of ascertaining if a report was true that the Judge had been giving prisoners their liberty on the condition that they pay their fine on the installment plan. The resolution created quite a sensation and Judge Scobee has replied through the press to those responsible for the proposed investigation. Councilman Nunan, who introduced the resolution, declares the jailer has the right to realize off of prisoners sent to him from the city. The city has no workhouse and uses the county jail.

BIG TAX SUIT

Suit for back taxes on personally estimated at $150,000,000 was filed in the Fayette County Court by Sheriff T. C. Bradley through County Attorney Hogan I. Yancey against the estate of the late L. V. Harkness. The suit probably is the largest for delinquent taxes ever filed in the State of Kentucky, more than $3,500,000 being involved. Under the law, the county may go back for five years on all personally omitted from assessment, and the suit filed there asks that the estate be assessed for stocks, bonds and notes in the amount named for the years 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915.
